ACCOUNTS OF THE CHURCHWARDENS

OF THE

Parish of St. Michael, Cornhill,

IN THE

CITY OF LONDON,

FROM 1456 TO 1608.

With Miscellaneous Memoranda contained in

THE GREAT BOOK OF ACCOUNTS,

AND

EXTRACTS FROM THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE VESTRY,

FROM 1563 TO 1607.

EDITED FROM THE ORIGINALS BY WILLIAM HENRY OVERALL, F.S.A., LIBRARIAN TO THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF LONDON.

PRINTED WITH THE CONSENT OF THE VESTRY, FOR PRIVATE CIRCULATION ONLY,

BY

ALFRED JAMES WATERLOW,

CHURCHWARDEN FROM A.D. 1853 TO A.D. 1855, AND FROM A.D. 1805 TO A.D. 1808.

HAVING some years since been elected by my fellow-parishioners to the office of Churchwarden of the Parish of St. Michael, Cornhill, London, questions were frequently brought under my official cognizance affecting the proper disposition of the Revenue derived from the Parish Estates. The decisions from time to time arrived at appearing to me to be in some instances wanting in authority, I was induced to endeavour to trace out, if possible, the precise nature of the Original Trusts under which the several properties were held. With this view, and with the assistance of my friend Mr. Edwin Roffe, I procured a transcript of the oldest record belonging to the parish, known as the Great Book of Accounts.

Although not altogether successful in the immediate object of my search, I found in the volume many matters of considerable importance; and it has been suggested to me that, whilst they would undoubtedly possess great value to the Parish, they might have an antiquarian and historical interest which would justify their circulation even beyond its limits.

Acting upon this suggestion, I have, with the consent of the Vestry, printed this book; which I now commend to the consideration of my fellow-parishioners.

The superintending of the sheets through the press has been almost entirely the work of my friend Mr. W. H. Overall, the Librarian to the Corporation of London, who has also added the Introduction, Notes, and Index; and, I may add, but for the assistance of the two gentlemen above named, the task would never have been undertaken by

PREFACE.

---

THE Parish of St. Michael, Cornhill, like most of the Parishes in the City of London, is of great antiquity, and it does not appear possible to give any authentic information as to the erection of the first Parish Church.

The earliest known mention of it is to be found in the Chronicle of the Abbey of Evesham, in the County of Worcester, wherein it is recorded that Alnod the priest gave the Church of the Blessed Michael, in Cornhill, to the Abbey.

In the "Chronicon Abbatiae de Evesham," Book III. under the chapter, "Nomina benefactorum Eveshamensis Cœnobii et possessionum ejusdem," at page 75 of the Master of the Rolls' edition is the following entry :

"Anno ab incarnatione Domini Millesimo Quinquagesimo quinto<sup>1055</sup>
"Eadwardus rex Angliæ dedit ecclesiæ beatæ Mariæ et beati
"Ecgwini Suellam Minorem et Graftone Majorem, et concessit quod
"porth et Mercatio essent apud Evesham. Alnod sacerdos dedit
"ecclesiam beati Michaelis in Cornhulle, London."

Among the Registers of the Abbey is one which was formerly in the possession of Richard Fleetwood, Esq., of Penwortham, in Lancashire, now preserved among the Harleian MSS. in the British Museum, number 3763.<sup>1</sup>

This Register, which contains many important instruments relating to the Abbey, includes a deed (numbered 57) of Benedict Fitz Stephen, of London; by which he surrenders all his rights in the Church of St. Michael, Cornhill, to Adam the Abbot, and the Abbey of Evesham. This Adam held the office from 1161 to 1191. The instrument referred to is given at length in Dugdale's "Monasticon," vol. ii., page 19.

1133.

Stow<sup>1</sup> says. "Then have ye the Parish Church of S. Michael the Archangell: for the Antiquity thereof, I finde that Alnothus the Priest gave it to the Abbot and convent of Covesham: Reynold Abbot and the convent there, did grant the same to Sparling the Priest, in all measures, as he and his Predecessors before had held it: to the which Sparling also, they granted all their lands which they there had, except certaine Lands which Orgar le Provde held of them, and paid two shillings yeerely: For the which grant, the said Sparling should yeerely pay one marke of rent to the said Abbot of Covesham, and finde him his lodging, salt. water. and fire when hee came to London; this was granted 1133, about the 34 of Henry the First."

Newcourt, in his "Repertorium," vol. i., page 479, states—"In farther confirmation of these Churches belonging to the Monastery of Evesham, I find it thus: In Londoniis. Ecclesia S. Mich. de Cornhull, pertinet ad Ecclesiam de Evesham cum tribus domibus, & reddit annuatim Ecclesie duas Marcas & semel in anno Ignem, Salem, & Literiam," and he gives as his authority for the same Cottonian Manuscripts Vespasianus, B. xxiv., folio 9.

The Patronage was transferred from the Abbey by two deeds,<sup>1</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Made between the Abbot Thomas (Newbold) and the Convent of Evesham, and Symon Hogan, Thomas Tremor, John Bonde, Richard Shore and William Calley, and the Master, Wardens, Brethren and Sisters of the Gilde or Fraternite of our blessed Lady of Drapers of London. The first deed is sealed with the common seal of the Abbot and Convent of Evesham and the Company's. The second deed is sealed with the seal of the Abbot and Convent, and the seals of the five Members of the Company.—Drapers' Company Archives.

dated the 4th of December, 1503, 19th Henry VII., to the Drapers' Company, to whom it still belongs; the first Rector presented by the Company being Peter Drayton, who was appointed upon the decease of John Wardroper, in the year 1515.<sup>1</sup>

The value of the Church in the King's Books<sup>2</sup> is thus stated:—

The edifice is referred to in a Proclamation made and cried in the time of John de Stodeye, Mayor: "Namely, on the Monday next before the feast of St. Lucy the Virgin (13 December), in the 31st year of Edward III., A.D. 1357," which directs inter alia that, "Those who wish to carry out their Poultry, to sell, stand and expose the same for sale along the wall towards the west of the Church of St. Michael on Cornhulle."<sup>3</sup>

Although no account can be found of the erection of the Church, it is recorded that the steeple, which was in a state of decay, was rebuilt in the year 1421, the first stone being laid on the 25th of September in that year (see fac-simile of steeple, page 199). A peal of five bells was hung in it; to which a sixth, or tenor bell, was added by the liberality of Mr. Alderman Rus,<sup>5</sup> in 1430, which was subsequently called by his name. It appears by the "Great Book of Accounts" that the steeple and roof of the Church were repaired in 1475,<sup>1</sup> and a new cross and vane added. The steeple was again repaired in 1551 and 1574.

Stow, in his edition of 1603, p. 107, records the following legend concerning this steeple :—“ And here a note of this Steeple, as I have oft heard my Father report, upon S. James' night, certaine Men in the loft next under the Belles, ringing of a Peale, a Tempest of Lightning and Thunder did arise, an ugle shapen sight appeared to them, comming in at the South Window, and lighted on the North, for feare whereof, they all fell downe, and lay as dead for the time, letting the Belles ring and cease of their owne accord, when the Ringers came to themselves, they found certaine stones of the North Window to bee raysed and scrat, as if they had been so much butter printed with a Lyons clawe; the same Stones were fastened there againe, and so remayne till this day. I have seene them oft, and have put a feather or small stick into the holes, where the Claws had entered three or foure inches deepe.”<sup>2</sup>

The Church consisted of a Nave and Aisles. It had a Choir<sup>3</sup>, and several Chapels, as St. Mary's, in which Mr. Alderman Rus founded a chantry<sup>4</sup>, St. Margaret's, St. Anne's, St. Christopher's, St. Catherine's, &c., &c. The North-side of the building was open to the street<sup>5</sup>, from which it was separated by a small green churchyard<sup>6</sup>. This was built over upon the surrender of the Church Lands, in the reign of Edward the Sixth.

The four tenements erected upon it, and fronting Cornhill, were conveyed to the Parish by the Rev. Richard Matthew<sup>1</sup>, the Rector, by deed dated the 2nd of June, 1569, the Tythes only being reserved to himself and his successors.

On the West front of the Church was the Louge Aley, since called St. Michael's Alley; at the entrance to which was a gate, and hard by it stood two Crosses.<sup>2</sup> Two Lanterns to light this passage were purchased by the churchwardens in 1551, at a cost of one shilling and eightpence.<sup>3</sup>

On the South side of the Edifice was another Churchyard, partly surrounded by a cloister, and filled with monuments of eminent persons. In the open space stood the Pulpit Cross, said by Stow to have been like to that in "Paules Churchyarde."<sup>4</sup> It is stated to have been erected by Sir John Rudstone, who was Mayor in 1528; he died in 1531, and was buried in a vault under the said Pulpit Cross.<sup>5</sup> To this Cross new steps were made in 1559.

A new Pulpit of wainscot was purchased for the Church in 1561, when the old one was sold to the Corporation of London.<sup>7</sup>

This Church shared the fate of most of the City Churches, having been destroyed in the Great Fire of 1666. The first entry in the Vestry Minutes after the fire is a note subscribed by some of the late parishioners, dated 17 September 1666, directing the Vestry house and Coal house to be repaired, and the materials saved from the ruins of the Church to be placed therein for safety.

The Tower and Steeple, however, do not appear to have been so seriously injured as to require rebuilding, although they cost the Parish a very large sum for repair. The following resolution was passed by the Vestry on the 3rd of October, 1667: "Ordered that Mr. Shorthose and Mr. Cartwright, masons, and some of the Parishoners who are willing to goe up into the Steeple shall view the state of it, and report it to the next vestry, that some endeavours may be taken to secure the same from weather and falling." At a meeting of the Vestry holden on the 13th February, 1667, (N.S. 1668,) an agreement for the carpenter's work for the repair of the Steeple was entered into,—

"To put in ffour substantiall floars of oak. That is to say, the sumers (girders) of the two lower floares to be 12 inches and 14, and to plank them with 2-inch oaken planks, and the sumers of the 2 uper floares to be 18 inches and 16, the joysts to be 8 inches and 4, and the joysts of the 2 lower floares to be 7 inches and 4, all at £165. Signed, WILLIAM MILLER."

On the 19th of February a subscription was agreed to be raised for the repair of the steeple, which was estimated to cost altogether £600; and on the 22nd of April, Mr. Flaxmore was appointed to do the plumbing work on and about the same.

The body of the Church was rebuilt from the design of Sir Christopher Wren, out of funds provided by the Coal Tax, assisted by the contributions of some of the wealthy parishioners. On the 1st April, 1669, Dr. Meriton (the Rector) reported to the Vestry<sup>1</sup> "that Sir John Langham, Knight & Baronett, will give £500 towards the building of the Church;" and certain of the Parishioners were ordered to see him, and to thank him for his great liberality. At a meeting holden on the 25th of February, 1669, (o. s.) Mr. Leonard Bates acquainted the Vestry that Mrs. Scotton had left £20 towards the rebuilding. And on the 5th of July following, benefactions for the same purpose were reported from, James Clitherow, Esq., £50; Sir Andrew Riccard, £50; and Sir John Monson, £20.

Considerable delay, however, occurred in its re-erection, and frequent reference is made in the Minutes of the Vestry to the steps taken to urge the Architect to finish the building. On the 2nd of July, 1672, it was ordered "that D<sup>r</sup> Merriton, with the Church-<sup>1672.</sup> wardens and some of the Parishioners, do apply to D<sup>r</sup> Wrenn, and "desire of him the speedy finishing of the Church." And on the 15th of September, 1675, the following order was passed: "Whereas<sup>1675.</sup> "there is £252 13<sup>s</sup> 4<sup>d</sup> yet in arreare as owing to this Parish upon "account of building the Parish Church, which ought to be received "from Sir Christopher Wrenn, but hath been delayed, It was "ordered that the Churchwardens, &c., do apply to the Lord Com- "missioners, and represent the case to them."

The structure was not finished until 1672, when an agreement to paint the Ten Commandments, &c., was entered into by the Vestry:

15th of November, 1672.

"Ordered that M<sup>r</sup> Streater,<sup>1</sup> the Painter, who hath bin discoursed "with to paint Moses and Aaron, the Ten Commandments, the "Beliefe and Lord's praier, in the chancell, and hath required for it "£30, he performing it as he hath proposed, shall have that sume "for it."

Pending the completion of the Church, a temporary building was erected in the ruins for the parishioners to meet in for Divine worship.

17th of June, 1670.

"Mr. Miller the Carpenter was appointed to partition off and "make up a fitting part of the Middle Isle of the Church, with balks "and boards and in most convenient way to be layed to the North <sup>1</sup> Born in London in 1624, and was a scholar of M. du Moulin; at the Restoration he was appointed Sergeant-Painter by King Charles II., and died in 1680, aged 56 years, after being cut for the stone by a French surgeon, who was sent for from France by the King.

“ Isle for the making of a place for the Parishoners to meet in for “ heareing divine service and preaching, and he undertook it &c.”

The means adopted by the Vestry to preserve the salvage, such as melted lead, bell-metal, &c., against thieves, are thus detailed in the proceedings of the Vestry :—

On the 8th of January, 1667,

“ It was agreed that the Lead and Bell Metal lying loose in the “ Church, and subject to imbezellement, shall be secured in casks, that
 “ the dust wherein any Bell Metal is shall be refined and the weight
 “ taken, and that all the Iron and Brass shall be sold.”

27th of August, 1669.

“ It being considered that the Bell Metle in the Church lyeth
 “ subject to casualty and imbezellment, It is ordered that the Church“ wardens Mr. Young, Mr. Hutchenson, &c., do remove it to Mr.
 “ Nurse’s house, and weigh it and deliver it to Mr. Nurse to be kept
 “ by him for the use of the Parish.

“ Memorandum That according to the order above, the Bell Metle “ was removed to the house of M<sup>r</sup> Edward Nourse in Cornhill and “ there weighed and delivered to him, The quality and weight thereof “ being as followeth (viz<sup>t</sup>)”

	c.	qrs.	li.
Of Bell sides - - -	17	1	11
Of Metle New Cast -	23	1	22
Of burnt Metal - - -	27	3	21.”

2nd of April, 1674.

Mr. Nourse desired to be released of the care of the Bell Metal.

19th of April, 1677.

Ordered that the Bell Metal be sold.

The edifice was scarcely completed before the old steeple was discovered to be in a dangerous state, and the following steps were taken by the Vestry for its reconstruction :—

The 29th of November, 1703, “ It was proposed to signe a petition

“ to the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London, and the “ Lord Mayor of London, to desire an appointm<sup>t</sup> of some of the “ Coale Mony appoynted by Parliament for Publiick uses to rebuild
 “ our Church Steeple, And a petition was produced & read & “ agreed to & signed by the Persons present or the most of them, and “ the Churchwardens are appointed to deliver the same and give an “ account of their proceedings & success therein.”

The 22 January, 1706. A Committee was appointed “ To meet from 1706
 “ time to time to take care of all matters and things preparatory “ to the speedy rebuilding of the Steeple belonging to the Church of “ this Parish in the best manner they can procure the same to be “ done for the benefit and ornament of the Parish.”

The Committee, however, do not appear to have succeeded for want of funds; and on the 26th of February, 1710, the following 1710 resolution was agreed to: “ That the Committee do prepare a “ Petition to Parliament requesting that the old Steeple may be “ pulled down and a new one built at the Public charge.”

In answer to the enquiries made at the Bishop’s visitation, in July, 1711, the following statement is entered on the minutes:— 1711.

“ Oure Church is in good repaire, but our Steeple is very antient
 “ and much damnified by the fire of London in 1656, and hath cost
 “ the Parish a great deal of Money to repair it.”

On the 10th of August, 1713, it was “ Ordered that Mr. Hare and 1713.
 “ Mr. Shipston, two of the Churchwardens present, or either of them,
 “ have power to dispose of any sune not exceeding one hundred “ pounds of the Parish Money, in their or either of their hands, or “ which shall come to their or either of their hands, at their dis“ cretion and in such manner as they or either of them shall think “ fitt, for the speedy procuring the re-building or repairing the steeple
 “ of the Parish Church, &c.”

22nd of October, 1713. “ The order of the last Vestry being read 1713.
 “ the Churchwardens acquainted this Vestry that they had made a

“ progress towards the end therein proposed, but previous thereunto “ Sir Christopher Wren and the officers under him expected a “ covenant to indemnifie them from any damage they may suffer in “ repairing the Steeple, the forme of which covenant had been de“ livered to the Churchwardens, which they produced to this Vestry “ where the same was read and considered. Ordered that if the “ Churchwardens Mr. John Hare and Mr. John Shipston, shall finde
 “ it necessary to signe and seale such covenant on behalfe of the “ Parish, that the Parish will indemnifie or reimburse them the said “ Churchwardens for what they shall doe or suffer therein or “ thereby, and that the copy of the said covenant as now read be “ entered in the Vestry Booke.”

The covenant is then entered at length.

1715. On the 24th of October, 1715. “ Mr. Shipston, Upper Church-“ warden, acquainted the Vestry that notwithstanding all former “ delays and obstructions for about ten years past to the taking down
 “ and re-building the Steple of our Parish Church, yet upon the “ application of the Rector and Churchwardens on behalf of the “ Parish, to the Right Hon. William Lord Cowper, Lord High “ Chancellor of Great Britain (whos ancestors ly interr'd in the “ cloyster of our Church). and his Lordship's frequent reminding his “ Grace the Lord Archbishop of Canterbury and the Lord Bishop of “ London, two of the Commissioners for taking care of the re“ building the Churches destroyed by the fire of London in 1666,
 “ That the said Lords Commissioners have ordered and directed that
 “ the Steeple belonging to our Parish Church shall be taken down
 “ and rebuilt out of the publick moneys for such purposes, and that “ the work is now actually begun.”

1717. The 4th of December, 1717. “ The Churchwardens acquainted
 “ the Vestry also that the workmen had left off going on with the “ Steeple, It was thereupon proposed that the Parish should apply
 “ to the Parliament for getting the same finished.

“ Ordered that the Churchwardens do appoint and employ such “ persons as they shall think fit to sollicit the Parliament for an Act
 “ of Parliament or a clause in some Act in order to have the Tower
 “ or Steeple finished, and that the Parish shall repay them what “ necessary charges they shall be at therein with Interest for the “ same at £5 per cent. per ann. till paid.”

On the 17th of April, 1718, “ The Churchwardens acquainted the <sup>1718.</sup>
 “ Vestry that pursuant to the orders of last Vestry they had applyed
 “ to Parliament for an Act to finish the Tower of this Parish “ Church, and that they had passed an Act for finishing the same,
 “ That the charges and fees in obeying the same amount to Two “ Hundred and fifty pounds, &c.”

2nd of March, 1718. “ Mr. Strong, the Mason, employed in re- <sup>1718.</sup> “ building the Tower, acquainting the Vestry that roome was “ wanting to performe his work of building thereof, Ordered that “ leave bee given to him to make use of such part of the Church as “ shall bee needfull for that purpose.”

On the 17th of April, 1718, it was “ Ordered by the Vestry that the <sup>1718.</sup> “ Churchwardens do not admit any person to carry off any of the “ stones in the Churchyard till further order of Vestry, and that they “ inquire into what Materialls of the Old Steeple have been carried “ off, and by what authority, and that they do not part with the “ Old Modell and papers referred to in the Act of Parliament or “ any other papers relating to the Tower to Mr. Bateman, or any “ other persons but the Commissioners for building the fifty new “ churches.”

13th of August, 1719. “ Upon reading a Letter from Mr. Strong, <sup>1719.</sup>
 “ the Mason, employed in rebuilding the Tower, intimating that for “ want of money hee could not proceed further in the building thereof, “ Ordered that it bee referred to the Minister and Churchwardens
 “ and Overseers, or any Three of them, to consider what measures

“ are fitt to bee pursued to forward that affaire and to report the same
 “ to the Vestry.”

1719. On the 13th of August, 1719, “ The Churchwardens acquainted the “ Vestry that the extent of the old Tower came out further into St.
 “ Michael’s Alley than the new one, which old one did containe from “ north to south 31 foote or thereabouts, & the south pillar extended “ 16 inches & the north pillar 14 inches further into the Alley than
 “ the new pillars doe.”

In answer to the inquiries made at the Bishop’s Visitation on the 1724. 19th of May, 1724, the Vestry certified :—

“ 1st. Our Church and Chancel are in extraordinary good repair
 “ in all respects.

“ 2nd. Our Tower was damaged by the Fire of London, and “ having since very much decayed was some time ago taken down,
 “ and is now magnificently rebuilt at the expense of the Public.”

From the view of the Church in Hollar’s Plan of London taken in 1647. 1647, and the engraving of it by Billings and Le Keux, it would appear that the model of the old tower in its general outline was followed by Sir Christopher Wren in his design for the new one, with but trifling variations in its architectural details.

The repairs, additions, and improvements which have since been made to the Church are recorded upon tablets preserved therein. The earliest, which is stated by Malcolm in his “ Londinium Redivivum ” to have been fixed on the north wall of the Church, has since been placed in the belfry. It bears the following inscription :—

“ This Church was completely repaired and beautified, with the 1790. “ following alterations and improvements, Anno Domini 1790. The “ Roof was entirely covered with new copper, the organ consider“ ably enlarged, with several new stops, a new circular pulpit and “ reading desk, two new stoves and chimneys, a new stained window “ over the altar, four new circular windows on the south side, new “ iron railings to the altar, twelve new brass branches, pillars, &c.,

 “ and the whole of the velvet and cloth furniture entirely new.”

At a meeting of the Vestry on the 1st of June, 1790, the Committee 1790.
 appointed to conduct and manage the repairs, reported that they were completed, and that the total cost thereof was £3,466. 5s. 10d.

Two other tablets which refer to the more recent improvements are thus inscribed—

Many persons of distinction were buried in the Church and Churchyard; amongst them we find the names of Ald. Rus; Alice, the wife of John Langhorne; Ald. Drope and his wife Jane, afterwards Countess of Lisle; Ald. Houghton, Ald. Tollos and his wife, Ald. Robert Fabian, who wrote the Chronicle of England and France; Ald. Philip Gunter, Dr. Yaxley, Physician to King Henry VIII., Stow's great grandfather, grandfather, father, and mother, &c., &c.<sup>1</sup>

There were three or more fraternities or brotherhoods belonging to this Church, one to Jesus, one to our Lady, one to St. Christopher and St. George, and one to St. Anne; and ordinances for their good government are given at length in page 211 et seq.

RECORDS.

The Records of this Parish are in a very good state of preservation; the earliest, the "GREAT BOOK OF ACCOUNTS," commencing in 1456, the 35th of Henry VI., and ending in 1608, the 6th of James I., the entries between 1476 and 1517 are however wanting. This book is thus described in the heading to the accounts of the Churchwardens in 1459: Nicolas Drayton, John Crompt, and John Hungerford. "In whos tyme yis p̄sent Boke of ye nombre of cccxli<sup>ti</sup> leves bounde clapped and closed in bo[ards,] made and ordeyned by hem at ye “costs of ye pisshõns of ye seid chirch to make and write the accounts of ye wardens yere.” On page 2 are two entries disputing the pagination of the volume. It cost for the parchment<sup>1</sup> 20s., and for binding,<sup>2</sup> etc., 3s. and 3d.

It was preserved with the other archives of the Parish in the Great Fire of 1666, and was directed to be placed in a chest,<sup>3</sup> to be provided by the Churchwardens.

The variations in the scholastic attainments of the different scribes are strikingly exhibited in the orthography of the original, which has been strictly adhered to in the present volume.

THE MINUTES OF THE VESTRY commence the 16th of May, 1563, 5th of Elizabeth, and continue to the present time.

These records are a reflex of the times, both politically and socially. At the Reformation, in obedience to a proclamation issued by direction of the Privy Council, the Lord Mayor, Sir Henry Hubberthorne, passed an order,<sup>4</sup> dated 22 September, 1547, for taking down and removing all images and pictures in the various City churches. It will be seen by the accounts, that not only were the images themselves removed, but even the stones upon which they stood. The rood-loft, the shriving pew, and the several altars, shared the same fate; a communion table of wainscot was substituted for the high altar; while the sacramental plate and the Popish vestments were sold.

All these, however, were restored upon the accession of Queen Mary at considerable expense to the Parish, as shown by reference to the accounts for the years 1553-1554, only to be again disposed of under the rule of her sister Elizabeth.

REGISTERS.

1546. THE REGISTERS of the Parish commence as early as the year 1546.

Without going into the details of the history of the introduction of Parochial Registers of births, marriages, and deaths, a subject which would occupy too much space for the pages of a preface, it may not be undesirable briefly to state that their origin is attributed to Thomas Cromwell, Vicegerent to the King; who issued an injunction dated the 8th of September, 1538, 30th Henry VIII., commanding every minister to keep a register for every church, &c.

Whether the Parish provided a Register in accordance with this injunction does not appear, at any rate, it is not now in its possession; and moreover, as the accounts of the Churchwardens between 1476 and 1548 are wanting, the question cannot be determined.

Cromwell's injunction seems to have been but partially complied with; and in 1547, the 1st year of King Edward VI., another order was issued, which was almost a literal copy of the previous one. To this latter command the earliest Register of this Parish is undoubtedly attributable. It is written upon paper, and is thus described in the title-page:—

“A Register Book for the Parish of St. Michael's in Cornhill at London, divided into three tomes, “ 1st for Christenings.

“ 2nd for Marriages.

“ 3rd for Burials.

“ Begunne in the moneth of October, Anno Dni, 1546, to Anno Dni, 1657.”

Queen Elizabeth, in the first year of her reign, issued an injunction to the same effect as that of Edward VI., and it appears, by the following reference to the Churchwardens' Accounts for the year 1562, that the Parish then provided another Register.

“1562. Item, for a great paper booke for the church to register <sup>1562.</sup>
“the names of Christenings and burialles, iij. ijd.”

In the accounts for the year 1574. appear the following entries:— <sup>1574.</sup>

“Paide for a greate booke to register all the christenings, mar“riages, and burynges, xijs.”

“Paide for ye registringe of ye olde booke into the new booke of “christenings, &c., xijs. iiijd.”

Neither of the two last-mentioned Registers are now in the possession of the Parish, probably upon the well-known order made by the Convocation of the Province of Canterbury on the 25th of October, 1597, which directed that the Registers should be of parchment; they were copied into the new one, which, as will be seen from the following extract, the Parish then provided, and were considered as of no further value.

Vestry Minutes, 25th June, 1598:—

“Also it is agreed that a new parchment booke should be made “for to inregister christenings, marriages, and burialles according to “a statute, and that Mr. Vicars shall have the onregistring of it,
“and the Churchwarden to allowe him for his pains in copyng it
“out of the olde booke.”

“The last of July was the parchment booke made according to “the order afore and conteyneth twoe hondert and fourtye leaves,
“and cost forty fyve shillings.”

The payment is thus recorded in the Great Book of Accounts, 1598.

“Pd. for a newe parchment booke to register the christenings,
“marriages, and burialles by order of the Vestry ij<sup>li</sup> v<sup>s</sup>.”

This volume is thus described in the title-page:—

“The Registre of all the christenings, marriages, and burials wth “ Examined and pved wth the olde bookes, the 29 of January, by “ Mr. William Asheboolde, Parson, and Robert Willcoxe, Thomas

 “ Wheler, John Sambrooke, Churchwardens.”

Upon the opposite page is the following memorandum,—

“ This Booke belongeth to the Parish of St Michells, uppon “ Cornehill, and was boughte the 19th day of Julye, A<sup>o</sup> Dñi, 1598.

“ Mr. John Vickers	}	then	{	our Minister.
“ Robert Willcoxe,	}	beinge then Churchwardens.”
“ Thomas Wheeler,
“ John Shambrooke.

There is also a note as to the pagination.

“ This booke conteyneth two hundred and twenty-one leaves. I “ say ccxxi leaves, 221 leaves.”

The volume now consists of 232 leaves, eleven of which following
 No. 77 are unnumbered. The marriages begin at No. 78.

In the Churchwardens' accounts there are several entries of payments made for writing the list of names in the parchment book.

The subsequent Registers, which are continued without intermission to the present time, are of the usual character of these records, and call for no especial remark.

WARD RECORDS.

THE INQUEST BOOKS of the Ward of Cornhill, which are kept with the archives of this Parish, commence in the year 1571, 14th of Elizabeth. They contain many curious entries with respect to the powers and duties of the several officers of the Ward Inquest. In them also will be found the names of the Common Councilmen and other municipal officers of the Ward.

In the earliest volume is an entry<sup>1</sup> to the effect, that “Theare is boughte by this enqueste one newe cheste and this booke to serve from tyme to tyme at the Wardemote enqueste to wrighte in all matters as by them shal be determyned, &c.”

The following inventory in the same book gives a most interesting description of the Armour belonging to the Ward, which was kept in the steeple of the Church. It appears, from the various entries in the Great Book of Accounts, to have been the custom to lend it out upon the setting of the watch upon the vigils of the feasts of St. John the Baptist (24 June) and St. Peter the Apostle (29 June).

“Armoure<sup>2</sup> appteyninge to this Warde lyenge in the steple of St. Mighells, and comyteed to the charge of the Churche wardeines from tyme to tyme by them and their successors to be kepte to the use of the saide warde.”

This Parish has from a very early period been celebrated for its fine peal of bells, and the entries in the accounts of payments for their repair, re-casting, &c., are numerous. The allowances to the ringers for ringing them upon public occasions record the dates of many historical events; such as the accession of Queen Mary,—her passage through the City to her coronation,—the capture of Sir Thomas Wyatt,—the public entry of King Philip and the Queen after their marriage,—their passage through the City on the King's departure for Spain,—and on his return,—on the receipt of the intelligence of the expected birth of an heir to the throne;—on the accession and coronation of Queen Elizabeth;—King James, &c., &c.

Whilst upon the subject of the bells, it may not be uninteresting to observe that in this respect the Church still maintains its ancient reputation, and now possesses a fine peal of twelve bells in the key of C, the weight of the tenor being about 41cwt.

The inscriptions upon them are as follows:—

1. THOS. LESTER MADE ME, 1746.
2. THOS. LESTER MADE ME, 1746.
3. MAGNIFICAT ANIMA. R. PHELPS FECIT, 1728.
4. JUBILATE DEO. R. PHELPS FECIT, 1728.
5. CAST 1795. THE REV'D. THOS. ROBT. WRENCH, M.A., RECTOR; MESSRS. LUCAS BIRCH, PHILIP GRUBB, JOSH. NORVILLE, CH. WARDENS; THOS. MEARS, OF LONDON, FECIT.
6. EXULTATE JUSTI. R. PHELPS FECIT, 1728.
7. CANTATA DOMINO. R. PHELPS FECIT, 1728.

8. JOHN SMITH, EDMUND WAYTE, JOHN HUNT, [CHURCHWARDENS.] T. LESTER, LONDINI FECIT, 1740.

9. SI DEUS NOBISCUM QUI CONTRA NOS. R. PHELPS FECIT, 1728.

10. TO PRAYERS WE DO CALL,
ST. MICHAEL'S PEOPLE ALL;
WE HONOUR TO THE KING,
AND JOY TO BRIDES DO SING;
TRIUMPHS WE LOUDLY TELL,
AND RING THE DEAD MAN'S KNELL.

R. PHELPS, FECIT, 1728.

11. MESSIEURS ALEXANDER CLEEVE, JOHN WOOD, THOMAS RILEY, JOHN SHIPSTON, WILLIAM HIDE, RICHARD ROYCROFT, WILLIAM MARSLAND, TRUSTEES FOR BUYING THESE 12 BELLS. R. PHELPS FECIT, 1728.<sup>1</sup>

12. THIS BELL RE-CAST ANNO DOMINI 1795. THE REVD. THOS. ROBT. WRENCH, M.A., RECTOR OF ST. MICHAEL'S, CORNHILL; MESSRS. LUCAS BIRCH, PHILIP GRUBB, JOSEPH NORVILLE, CHURCHWARDENS; THOS. MEARS, OF LONDON, FECIT.

It appears from the following entries in the Minutes of the Vestry, that Richard Phelps, the bellfounder of Whitechapel, who cast the tenors of Chichester, Winchester, and Westminster, and the great bell of St. Paul's and of Bow, was engaged to re-cast the bells of this Church; those which have since become damaged have been re-cast at the same foundry.<sup>2</sup> "4th of April, 1728. A proposall being read, which was made by M<sup>r</sup>. Phelps, a Bell Founder, in Whitechapple, ordered that it be referred to the Committee appointed by last Vestry to contract with whom they shall think fit, and upon the best terms they can, for the interest of the Parish."

On the same day the belfry was ordered to be put in thorough repair. And on the 25th April, 1728, it was ordered by the <sup>1</sup> These bells were first rung to commemorate the arrival from Holland of H.R.H. Frederick Prince of Wales, Wednesday, 4th December, 1728.

<sup>2</sup> R. Phelps succeeded to the foundry of R. Mott, 1702. He was followed by his foreman, Thomas Lester, 1728; and afterwards by the Mears family, the present founders.

Vestry that the Committee should add two Bells to the ten they had already contracted for if they thought it desirable.

The referénces to the furniture of the Church, its repair, &c., are too numerous to particularize. Among them, however, it may be noted that in the year 1464 the organs were repaired at a cost of twopence, and again in 1469 at a cost of three shillings and fourpence. A new pair, supplied in 1475, were made by Michael Glancet, who received for his labor nine pounds besides the old ones. The yearly stipend of the Organist in 1551 is set down at five pounds. Renatus Harris built a new organ in 1684, at a cost to the Parish of £335, and the old ones to which a new swell was added, and other improvements made by Green in 1789; and in 1849 it was reconstructed by Messrs. Robson, under the direction of Mr. Limpus. The electric action has since been applied to the instrument, and it is now considered one of the finest organs in the Metropolis.

The entries in the accounts referring to the pews in this Church, which are very curious, have been thought of sufficient importance to merit extracting by Mr. Wright; who has printed them in his remarks on the history of pews, in the appendix to the "Churchwarden's Accounts of the Town of Ludlow," edited by him for the Camden Society, and published in 1869.

The custom of chaining books in churches is exemplified by several passages, the earliest being in the year 1465, when a payment is recorded of two shillings and twopence for two chains for two Psalter Books in the Chapel of St. Catherine. "The Paraphrase of Erasmus" was provided and chained in 1548; and in 1573 "Calvin's Institutions" and "Fox's Book of Martyrs" were added, and similarly secured. Notwithstanding these precautions, however, the last-mentioned volume was stolen in the year 1667.<sup>1</sup>

There still remain in the Church three of the chained books, which have suffered very much from use.

The earliest which is imperfect, is the occasional Offices of Matrimony, Visitation of the Sick, &c., explained by Thomas Comber, D.D., Dean of Durham. The dedication is addressed to William (Sandcroft), Archbishop of Canterbury, from Earl Newton; the volume was first published in 1659.

The other is Fox's Book of Martyrs, in two volumes. These works were rebound in 1686.

The purchase of an hour-glass, at a cost of fourpence, is mentioned as early as the year 1552<sup>1</sup>. This, if not the first, is probably one of the earliest known instances of its introduction into churches.

The gradual rise in the daily wages paid to artizans and labourers, and in the prices of materials used by them as shewn in these records, is worthy of attention, and to those interested in this subject a careful scrutiny will not be unprofitable.

POOR.

In the "Great Book of Accounts," appear numerous entries of moneys received from the Exchequer on account of the "Pattente," or as it is sometimes described, the poor men's money. The first entry is in 1554.

In a list of deeds, &c., belonging to the Parish, entered on the fly-leaf of the second volume of the Vestry Minutes, and dated 1703, occurs the following entry:

FOR THE POOR.

A Grant, or copy thereof by King Henry the 8th, of a Perpetuity of £12. 4s. payable out of the Exchequer.

The following extract, from the Twenty-second Report of the Charity Commissioners for England and Wales, page 16, appears to throw some light on the origin of this payment.

"Certain Lands which were left to the Parish for the sustentation

<sup>1</sup> See page 105.

“ of the Poor and for other services now termed superstitious uses
 “ becoming thus forfeited to the Crown, It was ordered by a decree
 “ of the Court of Augmentations and Revenues of the Crown, dated “ 30th May, 1551, the 5th of Edward VI., that the Churchwardens
 “ &c. of the Parish should receive annually from the King’s Highness
 “ towards the relief of the Poor of the Parish, £12. 4s.”

Although stated by the Commissioners to have been granted in the fifth of Edward VI., it may have been paid by the Exchequer from the time of the appropriation by the Crown in the reign of Henry VIII<sup>1</sup>, of Moneys left for certain religious services, but there is no entry in the book of its receipt before 1554.

<sup>2</sup> The Queen was met at Aldgate by her sister Elizabeth with a retinue of 2,000 horse and a train of ladies, and they rode together to the Tower amidst the shouts of the people, the thunder of cannon, and the pealing of church bells.

<sup>3</sup> The Coronation Procession passed through the City to Westminster September 30, the Queen being crowned in the Abbey, October 1st.

<sup>r</sup> Sir Thomas Wyatt, the leader of the insurrection in Kent against the Queen's marriage with Philip of Spain. Wyatt's standard was raised at Rochester January 25. On February 1st the Lord Mayor called an extraordinary meeting of the citizens at the Guildhall. The Queen attended in great state and addressed the assemblage, promising that if the Spanish marriage was objectionable to her subjects to remain their virgin Queen. The civic authorities raised 25,000 men the next day for the defence of the City. Wyatt arrived with his forces in Southwark, but found the gates of London Bridge closed February 3. He remained in Southwark until the 6th, when he marched to Kingston, crossed the bridge, and arrived at Brentford on the morning of the 7th, and continued his march into the City by way of Charing Cross. The citizens set a strong force at Ludgate, and when he came there he was driven back and captured near Temple Bar.—"Froude."

<sup>r</sup> Dr. John Story was educated in the University of Oxford, where he was admitted Bachelor of Civil Law in 1535, and chosen Prmc pal of Broadgate's Hall, 1537. In the reign of Edward the VI., his conduct to the Protestants being brought to the notice of that King, the Doctor withdrew into Flanders, but at the accession of Queen Mary he returned, and his offices were restored to him. However, when Elizabeth came to the Throne, he, as a Member of the House of Commons, spoke so warmly against the Reformation that he was committed, but escaped again into Flanders, from whence, being inveigled on board a ship, he was brought to London in 1570, and confined in the Beauchamp Tower of the Tower of London, where his name, cut by himself, may still be seen—

He was subsequently tried on a charge of high treason, and sentenced to be drawn on a hurdle to Tyburn and there hanged, June 1, 1571. On his way a person from the crowd sang out—

“ Master Doctor Story,
 For you they are right sorry,
 The Court of Louvain and Rome;
 Your holy Father the Pope,
 Cannot save you from the rope,
 The hangman must have your gown.”

His head was placed on London Bridge, and his quarters upon the gates of the City.

<sup>2</sup> Philip and Mary made their entry into the City from Richmond amidst the rejoicing of the Metropolis; the City had prepared a grand Pageant to welcome them, Gog and Magog were placed on London Bridge, and the Conduits were all decorated.—Aug. 18, 1554.

<sup>t</sup> On the 20th of April, 1555, the Queen withdrew to Hampton Court to prepare for her confinement. The sex of the expected infant had already been determined; and circulars were drawn and signed, both by the King and Queen, with blanks left only for the month and day, announcing to Ministers of State, Ambassadors, and to Foreign Sovereigns, the birth of a Prince. On the 30th of the month the happy moment was supposed to have arrived; a message was sent off to London, announcing the commencement of the pains. The bells were set ringing in all the Churches. The Te Deum was sung at St. Paul's, and the bonfires were made ready for lighting; but the symptoms passed off never to return.—“Froude.”

<sup>1</sup> Great preparations had been made by the citizens to welcome her Majesty, who rode in an open chariot sumptuously adorned. The streets through which the Queen passed were decorated with costly drapery, and triumphal arches were erected in several parts of the City. The various craft or companies of the City, well apparelled in rich furs and livery hoods, lined the route, which was through Fenchurch Street, Gracechurch Street, Cornhill, Poultry, Cheapside, Fleet Street, Strand, and Whitehall. January 14, 1559; crowned the next day, Sunday the 15th.

<sup>1</sup> The eagle desk, or lectern, was used at first in the choir only to carry the Gospels, but at a later date the Gradual, Antiphonar, and the Choir chant books were laid upon it. The earliest example known is about the 13th century. St. Gregory considered this bird to typify the contemplative life. Other fathers regard it as an emblem of resurrection.—“Walcott's Sacred Archaeology.”

<sup>1</sup> 7th October, 1571. The combined Fleets of Spain, Venice, Genoa, Malta and Rome, in all 206 Galleys, under the command of Don John of Austria, met the Turkish Fleet of 250 Galleys in the Bay of Lepanto, and after a severe engagement utterly defeated them, with a loss of 200 of their Galleys and 25,000 men; 15,000 Christian slaves were released. The renowned Cervantes (Author of Don Quixote) was present; he was wounded and lost the use of his left arm.

<sup>1</sup> 1596, April, Calais was taken by the Spaniards, after a siege of twelve days. When Queen Elizabeth first heard that this town was threatened, she sent orders to the Lord Mayor, Sir Steven Slaney, who was attending a sermon at St. Paul's Cross, to raise soldiers, which he did from amongst the congregation. The Earl of Essex, at the request of Henry IV. of France, was commissioned to transport 6,000 men for the relief of the place, but, before they embarked, news arrived of the fall of the town. It was restored to France by the Treaty of Vervins, signed May 22, 1598.

He resided in Lombard Street.

<sup>3</sup> Sir Thomas Rowe, Merchant Tailor, elected Alderman of Portsoken Ward 22nd June, 1557; translated to Bishopsgate Ward 18th January, 1560; elected Sheriff 1st August, 1560; Mayor, 29th September, 1568. He married Mary, the daughter of Alderman Sir Thomas Gresham, and died in 1570. By his will, dated 2nd May, 1569, he directed his body (if he died in London or Hackney) to be buried in the Rowe Chapel, on the south side of the choir of Hackney Church, and a convenient tomb to be raised. This beautiful monument, with the effigies of Sir Thomas and Lady with their six children kneeling, is still preserved. He gave to his company, 11th August, 1565, several messuages, &c., in the City of London, they to distribute £40 yearly among ten poor freemen of the Clothworkers, Carpenters, Tilers, Plasterers, and Armourers, £4 yearly to each, and £100 to be lent to poor housekeepers of the company.

<sup>4</sup> Sir Lionel Duckett, Mercer, elected Alderman of Aldersgate Ward 5th December, 1564; translated to Bassishaw 22nd April, 1567; elected Sheriff 1st August, 1563; Mayor, 29th September, 1572. He left by will, dated 21st of March, 1585, £200 on trust to the Mercers Company to be lent to four young men of the company, £50 each, for 5 years at 4 per cent., the profits to be given to the poor of the neighbouring parishes. His wife also left £500 to be lent, and the interest to be given to the poor of St. Giles Cripplegate, and the poor of the company.

<sup>5</sup> Sir John Ryvers, or Rivers, Grocer, elected Alderman of Farrington Ward Without 30th August, 1565; translated to Broad Street Ward 9th December, 1568; elected Sheriff 1st August 1565; Mayor, 29th September, 1573. The plague broke out in London during his Mayoralty, and Queen Elizabeth, out of regard for the people, enjoined the Mayor not to give any entertainment at Guildhall on the day of his inauguration.

St. Michael, Cornhill.

A SHORT ACCOUNT OF THE SEVERAL CHARITIES AND PROPERTIES BELONGING TO THE PARISH OF ST. MICHAEL, CORNHILL.

GIFTS FOR SERMONS AND FOR THE POOR

ROBERT ABBOTT, by will, dated the 3rd August, 1657, gave unto the Parson and Churchwardens of this Parish, upon trust, £5 4s. per annum, arising out of the rents of certain houses situated in Birchin Lane and Cornhill; they to give 2s. weekly in bread to the poor. By Deed dated 31st March, 1789, the premises were released in consideration of £100 £4 per Cent. Stock, now £133 6s. 8d. Consols, standing in the name of William Nash, Alfred James Waterlow, Alfred Jameson Waterlow, and Thomas Rouse Phillips.

JOHN LUTE, by will, dated 12th May, 1585, gave certain property to the Master and Wardens of the Clothworkers' Company, that they should provide yearly on the feast of St. Luke, inter alia, six poor men and six poor women, nominated by the Parish, with gowns, shirts, shoes, &c., and pay to the Minister preaching the Sermon 13s. 4d., and to each Liveryman present 4d.

JOHN RAYNE, or RAYNER, on the 6th of April, 1633, devised to the Drapers' Company £40 per annum to pay for a Sermon on each Sunday afternoon—the parishioners nominate the Preacher. The Company are also to pay annually 15s. to the three Churchwardens, 20s. each to the Clerk and Sexton, and 25s. for candles (£4 in all)—but this sum was doubled many years ago, and £8 per annum is now paid about the month of November.

JOHN VERNON, by his will, dated the 10th of October, 1615, devised £60 to the Merchant Tailors' Company, they to pay yearly for ever £2. 8s. to a baker for providing 12 penny wheaten loaves to be distributed every Sunday morning to the poor of the parish. This amount is paid annually at Christmas to the Churchwardens.

The said John Vernon also out of the same fund gave 10s. to a learned man for a sermon, to be preached yearly on the day of the testator's funeral, to the clerk 1s., and to the sexton 1s.; and 6s. 8d. more to the sexton for keeping clean a monument in the Church to Mr. Alderman Houghton; he also gave two silver mugs for the use of the communicants at the Lord's Table.

MARGARET PARSON, by deed, dated the 10th December, 1562, granted to the Master and Wardens of the Merchant Tailors' Company, an annuity of £4, issuing out of a messuage in the parish of St. Christopher, in Cornhill, they to pay to the Churchwardens of St. Michael's, Cornhill, 20s. per annum, to be given to 40 poor people of the parish. This is distributed at Christmas.

Mrs. DAYNES, whose husband was free of the Ironmongers' Company, on the 16th May, 1579, gave 20s. a year to the Ward for the poor of the parish, to be laid out in faggots. This sum is paid annually by the Company.

SPENCER COWPER, by his will, dated the 7th of November, 1675, gave £100 to this Parish, the benefit thereof to be given in penny bread every first Sunday in the month throughout the year to certain poor of the parish, such as usually come to common prayer and Divine service. In discharge of such sum of £100 the executors, by deed, dated September 10th, 1679, granted to the parish all that fee-farm rent of £5 issuing out of the mansion-house, warren, and park in Enfield, Middlesex. £4 is paid annually by James Meyer, Esquire, of Forty Hill, Enfield; but why £4 instead of £5 I am unable to discover, no other sum than £5 being mentioned in the deeds.

GRANT, by Letters Patent of King Edward VIth., the 30th May, 1552, of a sum of £12. 4s. per annum, "for and towards the relief
" and sustentation of the poor people that from time to time shall
" inhabit and dwell within the Parish."

Amount now receivable and payable annually at Lady-day, old style, by the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Woods and Forests, £10. 3s. 8d.

JOHN PARTRIDGE, by his will, dated 23rd May, 1621, gave a house in Silver Street, rent £10 per annum, for the benefit of the poor, and for sermons to be read yearly. This tenement was burned in the Fire of London, and the site abandoned by the Vestry. He also gave another house for the benefit of the children in Christ's Hospital, charged to pay annually out of the rent thereof 10s. for a sermon to be preached, on All Saints' Day, at Evening Prayer. The Governors of the Hospital pay this 10s. annually a few days before Christmas.

MARTHA HUITSON, wife of John Huitson, and second daughter of Sir William Cowper, of Ratling Court, in the County of Kent, gave £100 in trust, that £5 per annum might be disposed of for the benefit of the poor. The £100 was paid, and the £5 per annum is secured by deeds and payable out of the rent of the Jamaica Coffee House. This gift is recited in the deeds of September 18th, 1690, and of November 25th, 1690.

MARTHA SWARTZ, widow, by her will, made in 1776, gave £117. 13s. Old South Sea Annuities, the interest to be distributed in bread to the poor for ever. This sum has since been converted into £124. New £3 per Cents., producing £3. 14s. 8d. per annum. The names now on the stock are William Nash, Alfred James Waterlow, Alfred Jameson Waterlow, and Thomas Rouse Phillips; it is customary to distribute this at Easter.

JAMES MARTIN, in 1651, gave for the use of the poor of this Parish £50, the interest of which (40s.) is directed to be distributed to the poor at Christmas. This sum is now paid out of the rents generally.

WILLIAM BAYLIE, by his will, dated the 21st July, 1603, gave his tenement, with the appurtenances, situated in Jelly Alley, near Drapers' Hall, to the Parson and Churchwardens of this Parish for ever, upon condition that £5 per annum should be distributed in wood or coals among the poor, and that a sermon should be preached on the Sunday next after Low Sunday, in the Parish Church of St. Michael, in every year, by a godly preacher; in default of which condition the property was to go to the Master, Wardens and Commonalty of the Bakers' Company.

In the year 1854, this property let at about £16 per annum; it was then sold for £3,000, and in 1866 the said £3,000 was expended in the purchase of property at Westbourne Park, producing ground rents amounting to £120 per annum, the rack rentals being about £1,000 per annum.

The income having so much increased, application was made in 1868 to the Charity Commissioners, to settle a new scheme for the disposition thereof; and under this scheme the trustees are now permitted to pay, in their discretion, yearly, as follows:—

To the Cornhill and Lime Street Ward Schools ...	£50	0	0
To the Royal Ophthalmic Hospital ... ..	20	0	0
To the Metropolitan Free Hospital ... ..	20	0	0
To the Rector for a Sermon ... ..	5	0	0
To the Poor at Easter and Christmas, the balance of income amounting to about ... ..	25	0	0

ANDREW YARDLEY, by his will, dated the 18th of January, 1641, devised £40 to the Churchwardens, to be laid out at interest upon security, the interest to be expended for the relief of the poor parishioners of this Parish, by equal portions. This money was probably absorbed in the general funds of the Parish, and the Charity has fallen into abeyance.

GODFREY RAYNER, by his will, dated the 20th of September, 1626, gave £40 for the use of the poor; also £50 to be put out at £4 per cent., to produce £2 per annum, 20s. per annum thereof to be paid for a sermon to be preached on Good Friday, and 20s. to be given to the poor on Good Friday after the sermon. These sums were accepted at a vestry holden 29th February, 1627. The money is still paid for preaching the sermon.

PHILIP GUNTER left, the 14th January, 1582, by will, £13. 6s. 8d., in consideration that two sermons should be preached, one on 25th December, and one on 25th March, the Churchwardens to give to the Preacher 6s. 8d. for each,—which £13. 6s. 8d. was accepted.

By a note in the Ancient Book it appears the Quest House was assured to Gunter's executors for the maintenance of these sermons. Also see Vestry Minute Book, February 2nd, 1583-1584; and September 27th, 1584; in December, 1588, there is a minute entered denying the assurance. This money was probably absorbed in the Parish property generally.

JOHN SANBROOKE, by his will, dated the 16th July, 1605, gave £6. 13s. 4d., the interest of this sum to be devoted to the poor; he further gave £40, the interest of which was to be appropriated in part payment for a lecture on two days in the week; in default both sums to go to the Drapers' Company.

RADULPH FREEMAN, Alderman of London, and an inhabitant of the Parish, by his will, dated the 3rd July, 1733, made various devises to the Clothworkers' Company, and among others, the yearly sum of £5 for the relief of the poor of St. Michael, Cornhill.

A SHORT ACCOUNT OF THE PROPERTY BELONGING TO THE PARISH OF ST. MICHAEL UPON CORNHILL, JANUARY, 1869.

143 AND 144, BISHOPSGATE STREET.—This property is let on lease to Thomas Bax, corn merchant, for 21 years, at £155 per annum, from 29th September, 1852; expires 29th September, 1873.

Robert Donkin, by his will, dated 1st December, 1570, (13 Eliz.,) proved in the Court of Hustings of the City of London, 12th March, 1570, (O.S.,) devised this house, then rented at £4 per annum, to the Parson and Churchwardens, "to provide one dozen of penny bread to be given every Sunday to the poor householders of the Parish, and 2s. to the Churchwardens for their pains, the whole of the rest of the Rent to be retained for repairing the house."

The leases of this property have always been granted by the Rector and Churchwardens for the time being.

3, ST. MICHAEL'S ALLEY.—This house is now let on lease to Messrs. Campbell, for 21 years, from 29th September, 1854, at £105 per annum; expires Michaelmas, 1875.

The earliest mention of this property is in an indenture of feoffment to new trustees (17th March, 1690), wherein it is described as erected on a toft of ground on the west side of St. Michael's Alley, and as being 27 feet 6 inches from north to south, and 19 feet from east to west, and to be held by them "for the maintenance and sustentation of the parish church of St. Michael, Cornhill, and the ornaments thereof."

THE VESTRY ROOM belonging to the parishioners, now on the south side of the Church, and at the north-east corner of the churchyard, and appearing to be part of the present rectory house, has for many years past been let to the present rector from year to year, at the nominal rent of 1s. per annum, subject to the usual occupation at times of service in the Church, and to any other use by the parishioners when required.

The Vestry House of the parishioners was formerly on the north side of the Church, against Cornhill, but, being found "too straight and dark, and very unfit and incommodious for the vestry assemblies," was, in 1656, exchanged by the parishioners for a piece of ground on the south side of the Church, and the site of the old vestry was given in exchange to the Rector and his successors. At the cost of the parish a new vestry house was built on this south side of the Church. This new vestry house was destroyed or very much damaged in the Fire of London (1666), and, it would seem, remained for a few years in a ruinous condition; but on 20th November, 1674, a deed was made between Dr. John Meriton, the Rector, and S. Purchas, which states, that in consideration that Purchas had then built a new vestry house, and over it and on other ground other buildings, at his own cost, Dr. Meriton had granted him a lease of all the buildings, except the vestry room, cellar, outer door, portal, and chest room, for 40 years, at a peppercorn rent for the whole term. It seems likely that some dispute had arisen on the claim of the independent right of the parishioners to this vestry house, cellar, outer portal, and chest room; but if so, the differences were reconciled by deed of 14th June, 1675, for, "in consideration that peace and amity might be established, remain, and continue between the parson and parishioners for all times thereafter," Dr. Meriton granted a lease for 999 years, at a peppercorn rent, of the new vestry room, &c., and the cellars thereunder, and an entry from the south aisle of the Church. The cellar was afterwards given up to the Rector, Samuel Baker, who, with the consent of the Bishop, surrendered in exchange all the title of himself and his successors in a part of a tenement, called the Virginia Coffee House, in St. Michael's Alley.

In 1807 the then Rector let the Rectory and the Vestry House to one Mason; and in 1808 the right of the parishioners to the use of the room was again disputed; the matter was discussed, but although it appeared very doubtful whether the Rectors of 1656, 1674, and 1675, had legal right to bind their successors to the alienation of the ground on which the vestry house stands, yet, as the successors continued to enjoy the ground, &c., given in exchange (1656), it was advised that the old settlement should be adhered to,—no litigation actually occurred,—the right of the parishioners to the vestry house was admitted, and has never since been questioned.

JAMAICA COFFEE HOUSE.—Let on lease from Midsummer, 1863, for 21 years, at the rent of £550 per annum to Mr. George D'Arcey; expires 1884.

The part of this property next the Church tower and over the south porch has for more than two centuries been dealt with as the freehold of the parishioners; on the 25th March, 1656, a lease is recorded as granted by the Parish feoffees,—this property was burnt in the Fire of London.

Dr. Meriton, the Rector, on the 10th June, 1674, granted a lease of the ground, formerly the churchyard, 17 ft. by 30 ft., for 40 years, for rebuilding the Quest House, reserving its use to the Ward authorities.

The Parish feoffees, on the 19th June, 1674, demised the ground whereon the Quest House for the ward was intended to be built, 7 ft. 6 in. in breadth, and the Lessee covenanted to build.

25th November, 1690, by order of Vestry, it was conveyed by the old to the new feoffees with reservation for the use of the ward, and the trust is stated to be “for the maintenance and sustentation of the Parish Church of St. Michael, Cornhill, and the ornaments thereof.”

30th May, 1722, Samuel Baker, then Rector, conveyed, with proper consent, all his interest and that of his successors in all that part of the messuage and superstructure of the Quest House, 17 ft. by 30 ft., let at 40<sup>s</sup>/per annum, in exchange for a cellar under the vestry-room, then let at 60<sup>s</sup>/per annum, for ever, “for the better maintenance and sustentation of the Church and of the reparations ornaments and other necessary charges and works of the same Church.”

The other part of this property (in 1690, the 25th November, being four shops, built on the south-west corner of the churchyard containing on the south 35 feet, on the north 30 feet 3 inches, at the east end 29 feet, and on the west, next the alley, 17 feet 9 inches) is leasehold for 999 years at 1s. per annum, unless buildings higher than 10 feet from floor to ceiling be erected, and then £20 per annum—it is upon this part that Mrs. Huitson's gift of £5 per annum is secured; any overplus of rent to be used "for the reparations, ornaments, and other necessary charges and works of the "Church," and in default the property reverts to the Rector; after the death of 20 trustees 24 more to be appointed.

21st March, 1863. £45 per annum was secured by deed, and made payable to the Rector and his successors, in respect of a small portion of this property claimed as belonging to the Rectory; this was done on the occasion of granting a new lease of the entire property at a very greatly-increased rental.

45, 46, 47, CORNHILL.—Let on leases from 25th March, 1855, for 16 years, at total rentals of £900 per annum; the leases are now by assignment vested in the Estates Company, Limited.

This property, for many years prior to 1853, consisted of four houses, which were built on the site of the old churchyard, and conveyed to the parish by the Rev. Richard Matthew, the then Rector, by deed, dated the 2nd of June, 1569, the fourth having stood in front of the Tower, the entry to the Church from Cornhill being through one of the houses. Each of these four houses had back windows and doors, and communicated with the leads over the Church; such communication was found to be an intolerable nuisance, and when these new leases were granted, openings in the South Wall were forbidden.

ST. MICHAEL'S HOUSE.—Let on lease to Lewis Glenton and William White for 61 years, from 25th December, 1855, at £577 per annum; this lease is now (1869) vested by assignment in the Estates Company, Limited. Part of this property, westward, up to about 1854, was known for very many years as the "George and Vulture" Tavern, and the eastward portion consisted of three houses let to several tenants.

The derivation of it, as appears by the "Ancient Book," seems to have been by bequests of two pieces of void land, one part given by Sir Henry Collett, and another part by Sir John Milborne;—the only recorded history is as follows,— 10th June, 1505.—John Corbett sold to Sir Henry Collett, void ground lying south of the Church, containing at the east end 23 feet 4 in., and at the west end 30 feet 3 in., on the south 78 feet 8 in., and on the north 77 feet 3 in.

20th, Henry 8th, 1505.—Sir Henry Collett, by will, gave the said void piece of ground to the Parson and Churchwardens for ever.

3rd July, 1528. 20th, Henry 8th. Dautesey and Dormer sold to Sir John Milborne void ground on the south of the churchyard, in length from the course of the old churchyard to brick wall of the "Bell" in Gracechurch Street, 112 feet 8 in., and in breadth on the south side, from the brick wall of the garden belonging to the same, called the "George" in Lombard Street, on the west towards the east 68 feet.

23rd July, 1528. 20th, Henry 8th. Sir John Milborne, by his will, gave the said void ground unto the Parson and Churchwardens, and their successors for ever.

NO. 1, FARRERS RENTS.—Anciently Three Tun Alley, let on lease to James Saunders, for 50 years, from 25th December, 1858, at £10 per annum.

Lawrence Caldwell, by will, dated 12th February, 1624, gave this property to the Parson and Churchwardens for ever upon trust, to distribute the rent, then 50s. per annum, as follows—30s. thereof among the poor inhabiting the parish, 10s. at Christmas, 10s. at Easter, and 10s. at Whitsuntide; the other 20s. to be paid to the parson, or some other zealous preacher, 6s. 8d. for a sermon at Evening Prayer on each of the three Sundays of Christmas, Easter, and Whitsuntide; the rest of the rent to be accumulated in the hands of the Churchwardens towards the repair of the house.

The Parson and Churchwardens have always granted the leases of these houses.

WESTBOURNE PARK PROPERTY, bought with the money produced by the sale of Jelly Alley property, now consisting of Nos. 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, St. Luke's Road, 1 and 2, St. Mary's Road, and 1, Lancaster Road, in the parish of Kensington, let on various leases for 99 years, from 29th September, 1867, and all at £10 per annum ground rent, payable half-yearly. (See Baylie's gift, ante.)
